EE107 – Policies

Homework/labs/project and collaboration policy (revised)

- Homework is due in-class on the due date. In most cases, we will provide solutions right after the homework is due.

- For late homework, you need to speak to the instructor or the TA and obtain consent. Late homework without consent will be subject to penalty of 20% for each late day. We will not accept homework that is more than 3 days late.

- You are allowed and in fact encouraged to work in a small group (2-4 students) for solving homework questions, but you must write and hand in your own solutions.

- For lab work, you will work in a small group and hand in one report for each group. All students in each group must participate in the lab work to receive a grade.

- For the project, you are encouraged to work in pair and hand in one report for each pair. If you work in pair, in addition, each student will need to hand in a 1-page summary of his/her contribution and understanding of the project.

Exam policy

- All exams are closed book.

- For each midterm exam, you are allowed one single-sided page of cheat sheet. Hand-written only, no printing or photocopying. Sheets not following this guideline will be taken away during exam.

- For the final exam, you are allowed three single-sided pages (one from each midterm exam and one new) of cheat sheets.

- Simple calculators can be used during exam, but no fancy ones. No cell phones allowed during exam.
